

PROFILE OF MR ANGUS CARTER

Angus is a veteran corporate consultant and trainer with over twenty years of experience and is recognised by his client as a business communication specialist.

Prior to becoming a training consultant, Angus was the Vice President of Corporate Development for Academy of Certified Counsellors where Angus was responsible for the day-to-day running of the school.

In his corporate development role Angus lead the specification, design, MOE/SDF approval of new courses, conducted course previews in person and via internet webcast and liaised with overseas universities on course accreditation matters. To build awareness of the uses for counselling in companies he wrote and conducted several half-day and full day courses for corporate leaders and HR practitioners.

Angus was previously the Head of Customer Service with Investamatic Holdings (S) Pte Ltd, an equities research information system similar to Reuters where they serve fund managers and stock brokers. Angus was responsible for the designing and implementing training for staff and clients to enhance the organisation's service level.

Angus also has experience in the healthcare sector. He was the Deputy Communication Manager from Napsbury Hospital in Hertfordshire, England where Angus served as representative of the Confederation of Health Service Employees (COHSE) and sat on several of the hospital management committees.