

Mastering Management and Leadership Skills

By Francis Ho

BACKGROUND

Building effective management skills can help your managers and your organisation succeed even in challenging economic times. Managers can make or break an organisation. Their unique role in the organisation's success cannot be overlooked; managers have a large influence on employees' behavior, efforts and performance through the use of effective management skills. Without skilled managers, teams don't function efficiently, employee morale suffers and productivity drops. Yet many people often find themselves thrust into managerial positions before having the chance to develop the skills and know-how to perform well in the role. This workshop is specially designed to close the skill gap so that the managers can perform at the highest level to bring in the best results for the organisation.
